Maryland Tint Law (MD) | Can I Tint My Window In Maryland

thetintlaw.com/maryland-tint-law

November 23, 2021

We have done our best to collect all of the legal information necessary about Maryland tint law on this page. Including how dark and reflective the window tints are allows. There's more than just a minimum requirement. There can be no light showing through or reflecting off them (even at night) unless your state issues an exception license plate! If you want some advice on what type may work for your car -or driving habits- check out these styles from The Tint Law.

The Maryland window tint law was first enacted in 1995, with 27 other states to follow suit.

WHAT DOES VLT MEAN ACCORDING TO MARYLAND STATE LAW

The percentage of light that a window tint film allows to pass through your car windows is called the VLT (Visible Light Transmission). Each state has different legal allowable limits. The amount of blue in Maryland for passenger vehicles is precise. In contrast, multi-purpose vehicle regulations allow more liberal amounts. Which may cause some confusion when looking at insurance forms or other documents written about one's cars.

A HIGHER VLT means that more light can pass through the window tint film. When a person installs a 75% or higher level, they will see better because it allows for 75%. However, on 5%, just 2/10 of what was originally there is visible due to its darkness compared with other films at 10-20%.

MARYLAND TINT LAW – LEGAL TINT LIMIT FOR PASSENGER VEHICLES

- Front Windshield: Non-reflective 35% VLT tint is allows on the AS-1 line or top 5 inches of the windshield.
- Front-seat side windows: up to 35% tint darkness allows.
- Back seat side windows: up to 35% tint darkness allows.
- Rear window: up to 35% tint darkness allows.

MARYLAND TINT LAW – LEGAL TINT LIMIT FOR MULTI-PURPOSE VEHICLES

- Front Windshield: Non-reflective 35% VLT tint is allows on the AS-1 line or top 5 inches of the windshield.
- Front-seat side windows: up to 35% tint darkness allows.
- Back seat side windows: Any tint darkness can be use
- Rear window: Any tint darkness can be use

WANT TO D-I-Y?

How to tint car windows. To D-I-Y, check out how to tint car windows yourself here.

OTHER MARYLAND WINDOW TINT LAW RULES AND REGULATIONS:

Maryland is a great place to live, but it's not all sunshine and rainbows. There are some things in Maryland that you need to know about before deciding on window tinting:

- Do I have to have side mirrors in Maryland? If the back window is tinted, dual side mirrors are required in Maryland.
- Is colored tint illegal in Maryland? All tint colors are allowed in Maryland except Red, Amber, and Yellow.
- What are the Window Tint Certification Rules in Maryland? Manufacturers of film need to certify the film they sell in the state. Make sure your dealer is using certified film.
- Do I need a certified sticker from the company installing my window tint in Maryland? Maryland law does not require a sticker to identify legal tinting, but it's recommended to have one between the film & glass on each tinted window.
- Are there Medical Exemptions in Maryland for Window Tint? Maryland does allow medical exemptions for special tint. For more details about the specific terms of the exemption, consult your state law.

> Maryland's tinting laws can change daily, and these rules may be interprets differently by the city to county or even within individual buildings. We recommend double-checking the information we've provid with your local DMV for accuracy. As this page is up to date. Still. It's also a good idea to contact law enforcement agencies before installing anything tinted as they might. Have more up-to-date information about what is allows where you live!

MARYLAND WINDOW TINT MEDICAL EXEMPTION REFERENCES

The Maryland Vehicle Code requires all motor vehicle operators to have a valid medical waiver written by their physician. Suppose the driver has any known health conditions that could impair or limit them from safely operating a motorized vehicle. In that case, they must carry this form of certification with them at all times while driving in Maryland.

STATE OF MARYLAND INFORMATION

Maryland is a U.S state located in the Mid-Atlantic region of America. Bordering Virginia to its south and west. Pennsylvania to the northeast 24 Delaware is neighboring on all sides except for the southeast. Where it meets Maryland's southern border (a result of disagreements over which body should administer justice). The iconic states flag has blue fields symbolizing oceans Tegosa Harbor. At the same time, silver represents innerinny streams. That crisscross through Loudoun county before emptying into them, including Potomac River. Which winds through Washington DC, sending outberto shoreline between Point Lookout and Cape Charles.